

Cristina Gil, PhD is a Biologist (1994 Barcelona University). She is Medical writer and currently collaborate with DDR (Drug Development and Regulation - www.ddrmedic.com), located in Barcelona, Amsterdam and London. She also studied a Master's degree in the manufacture of advanced therapy drugs (Gene therapy, Cell therapy and Tissue engineering).

She held several positions related to R&D against HIV, has been in charge of the production of investigational medicinal products for Advanced therapies, and was head of Regulatory Affairs at Anaxomics (Spain).

She has experience in Advanced therapies, Cell and Viral culture optimization, Process development, manufacturing of biological products and validation, NCF, GMP, GLP, Analytical method validation, Adventitious virus testing, Quality control, Quality assurance, Molecular biology, PEI documentation, Vaccine, HIV, Monoclonal antibody production and characterization, ELISA, Western blot, Immunofluorescence, Biosafety, GMO, BSL-3 P3 Laboratory, BSL-2 P2 and Clean room.